About the role

"I am looking for two people to fill spaces in my team of very lovely personal assistants, who are off to do some travelling! These jobs have a mid-March start. I'm also open to having new team members join me on a more temporary basis from March until the Summer 2026, or on a more permanent basis.

I'm a recent university graduate, in my early twenties, who lives in Bristol. I currently work full time in a corporate job."

About you

This job has a lot of down-time and would suit someone able to entertain themselves. Many of my personal assistants' complete qualifications, online training courses or are students themselves while working with me.

I am looking for someone easy going and reliable, to help me with daily living tasks. For example, while on shift you might help me cook, do laundry, clean, pop to the shops, or help me put on shoes and a coat. I like to have my hair done, and so if you can use hair straighteners and curlers that is fab! You might also accompany me while I am out and about.

My disability is only physical, and I can easily explain what I need help with and when, therefore no previous care experience is needed. Minimal personal care.

The ideal applicant will also need:

- To be organised and be able to follow instructions.
- To be respectful towards the client's privacy.
- To be calm, patient and caring with a friendly approach and a good sense of humour.
- To be Motivated and enthusiastic.
- To have a mature and responsible attitude.
- To be presentable in both your appearance and ways.
- To be a good timekeeper.
- To be reliable and organised and maintain excellent standards.
- To be a good conversationalist.

More details

- Paid hour break per 12 hours of work.
- Opportunity to pick up more shifts when others in the team are unwell etc.
